Ambassador Spotlight: Kristie Darling

AMBASSADOR SPOTLIGHT:
KRISTIE DARLING

Kristie Darling and her husband, Charles Page, own and operate Cool Spring Center, a corporate training firm located on 100 acres in east Iredell County. Kristie, Charles and their team of experienced facilitators work with corporations and non-profit agencies from around the Southeast in a variety of settings. At their outdoor training campus they host teams that want to improve productivity, communication and leadership. Cool Spring's goal is to help people achieve more than they believed possible.

KRISTIE DARLING
COOL SPRING CENTER, INC.
PROGRAM & MARKETING DIRECTOR

Kristie believes that the most effective training begins with a partnership between teacher and student. She works with clients initially to help them define their goals and makes sure that the curriculum matches those goals. She also works to ensure that quality and effectiveness are maintained in every program and with every client.

As Cool Spring's point person to the business community, being a Statesville Chamber Ambassador is a new opportunity to learn more about area businesses and the leaders who manage them. "I'm looking forward to meeting new people and encouraging them to get more involved -helping them find a niche where they can contribute to Statesville's growth and reap the benefits of being a Chamber team player."

Cool Spring's clients include Ingersoll-Rand, Sara Lee, SunTrust Bank, City of Charlotte, United Way, Lake Norman Regional Medical Center, Barium Springs Home for Children, Iredell-Statesville Schools, Allen Tate Realty, Crescent Resources, NC Motorsports Association, Wake Forest University, Hospice & Palliative Care of Iredell County, Victory Junction Gang Camp, Fort Dobbs State Historic Site, and The Greater Statesville Chamber of Commerce.

In addition, Kristie and Charles operate Big oh! Balloons, the region's oldest hot air balloon service. They've been involved with Statesville's balloon rally, Carolina BalloonFest, since 1981. So, for a fun time, just call Kristie!
