July 28, 2006

Charles Page, President, Cool Spring Center, has been elected to the Board of Directors of the Blue Ridge Institute for Southern Community Service Executives at their annual meeting in Black Mountain, NC.

The Blue Ridge Institute for Southern Community Service Executives is celebrating its 80th year. The Institute was conceived for the benefit of voluntarily-supported and public-supported agencies in the health, welfare and youth-serving fields by having their executives meet for discussion of topics that affect their daily work. Its purpose is to improve existing leadership and create a desire in communities for better-trained people.

Attendance at the Blue Ridge Institute is by invitation only. The invitation list is developed by the Board of Directors, which is made up of the officers and representatives from states in the Southeast. The Blue Ridge Institute has contributed to the national health, welfare, recreation and community organization literature on a variety of important subjects. It has been nurtured and developed in a unique way by the volunteer services of the Community Service Executives who attend. The Blue Ridge Institute provides an annual six-day educational and fellowship conference for its members.

Cool Spring Center works with companies and organizations that want to develop and implement sustained improvement in the workplace.
